All proceeds go towards ALADD research for ALADD. Jillian Heger of Bridgewater Ma. was only the fourth child in the world diagnosed with Aromatic L-Amino Acid Decarboxylase Deficiency (ALADD). The effects of this disorder cause a number of serious problems which place Jillian at risk for sudden death and further neurologic injury. This is why we are so aggressive in finding a cure for this disorder.

Many children may have been mis-diagnosed with Cerebral Palsey that could in fact have ALADD. This is why we have created the ALADD Foundation. This foundation has helped in the diagnosis of children in the USA and in Europe. The goal of the ALADD foundation: To increase the quality of life for all who suffer from ALADD: To fund research for the cure of ALADD : To find others that suffer from this terrible disorder. With research, we hope one day Jillian will be able to control her arms and use her hands to live a normal life.
